Gates-Blake Hall 133

RSVP: abrandel@UChicago.edu

This workshop aims to explore the possibilities for dialogue between literary studies and anthropology at the frontiers of both disciplines by putting practitioners directly into conversation around questions of practice and method.

We hope that thinking in each other's company will help us to refine our stakes in shared (and divergent) concepts and approaches and the various ways we each understand, engage in, and critique ethnography.
